

Children Without Crayons

During a visit to a small village in Kenya, East Africa, the author and a fellow wildlife artist coordinated a day of art instruction for 12 village children at a local Wildlife Center. The two artists spent a day in Kangundo, Kenya at the center and taught the children how to draw African wildlife. This small book, the result of that visit, showcases the beautiful artwork these special children created. Proceeds from the sale of this book go to the Preston Mutinda Wildlife Education Center in Kangundo, Kenya.
